Hi, from the Library

On 25 May 2018, a new data protection ordinance will take effect. This is also known as the GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation). The GDPR replaces the Personal Data Act. Although much remains the same, the requirements regarding the handling and processing of personal data have become stricter. In short, this regulation provides greater protection for your personal integrity. That's why we want to inform you about how we at the library handle and process your data.

In order for you to be a borrower at this library, we need some personal data about you, including your name, your national ID number and your contact information. This is the information we request from you when you apply to be a borrower either via our website or at a personal visit to the library.

Your data will be saved as long as you are a borrower in municipality of Växjö. If you are no longer active as a borrower, your data will be removed after two years. We always comply with the law when we handle and process your personal data and, in addition, you are always entitled to see what personal data about you we have on file.

Please read our new, updated terms and conditions for using the library, which includes information on how we handle and process your personal data:
